Hello & welcome on my own professional blog !

I see, I love, I paint, I write, I create, I share and I sing life in colors without locking its flavor and scents in boxes all stereotyped in white and black, but with sunshine & music in the heart.

I am an artist and a literary person.

As a goldsmith of relationships, I have been carving, embroidering & forging bonds, even alliances at savourous restaurants tables in the French-speaking part of Switzerland for more than more than 2 decades, both at personal and professional levels.

"Think Crea Do-Tanker" & "Slasher", I embody my global vision through my companies.

The aaa Foundation & @ma Table & Co.

The common point of all my activities: working to build bridges in grace, peace, freedom, trust, joy & the Agape in the sense of LIFE. And yes, even business development - one of the parts of my caps - only grows in such a stable soil.

To achieve this, I have developed the strategic creation and operational deployment of Alliances, Ecosystems & Sustainable Intergenerational Communities in Switzerland in collaboration with nations.

It is one person and then the other that I have been meeting since 1997, the year I left Belgium (The flat country of Jacques Brel) to build my anchor home in Switzerland.

Among all these personalities, I choose, serve, highlight, recommend and introduce my Allies by facilitating the introduction and the projects with my circles of contacts through hybrid ways: face-to-face (offline) and digital (online).

Why?

Because I am a passionate about Life, fascinated by the depth, the inner richness of certain beings, their actions and their journeys.

Fascinated by the art of sharing, I value, connect and gather my contacts.

How? How?

In particular thanks to facilitation, talents matchmaking, business & expertise networking to build synergies.
